CDA[®] Gold Standard Specialist Manual

As a Gold Standard Specialist (GSS), you are trained, contracted and endorsed by the Council to utilize your expertise in education to facilitate the final stages of the CDA® Gold StandardSM process for organizations in your community. This manual is a primary training resource for the GSS and designed to help prepare you to conduct Site Visit Reviews (SVR) of organizations seeking the CDA Gold Standard.

You are charged to use this manual conscientiously as a resource to perform your responsibilities as a GSS. It is critical that you always conduct Site Visit Reviews in a professional manner that preserves and builds the integrity of the CDA Gold Standard.

There are five (5) main sections: Training, Preparing, Conducting, Recording and Scoring, and Submission. Each section is designed to:

- Familiarize the GSS with the Council and the CDA Gold Standard process
- Provide guidelines that support the relationship between the GSS, the applicant organizations and the Council
- Serve as a reference guide that outlines procedures and practices required to properly conduct the Site Visit Review
- Outline the rules and responsibilities of the GSS throughout the Site Visit Review process

The Gold Standard Specialist Manual can be printed and placed in a loose-leaf binder. As changes occur to this manual, GSS's will be notified of important procedural changes via email. Included will be periodic revisions and updates. An electronic copy of the manual, along with any procedural changes, also will be available in the GSS Resource Library. It is the GSS's responsibility to maintain the most updated copy of the manual.

If there are any questions about the manual or these procedures, GSS's should contact the Council through email at GSS@cdacouncil.org or via telephone at (800) 424-4310.

Introduction

The Council is pleased to provide, via the CDA® Gold StandardSM, an avenue for training organizations and institutions of higher education to receive public recognition for their commitment to advancing professional development and training for CDA® students through the delivery of high-quality training programs and student services. Research on programs offering training for early childhood educators shows a wide variation in the quality of training experiences they provide. This creates a challenge for students seeking reliable sources of professional training. Training matters for early childhood educators who seek to meet the developmental, emotional and educational needs of young children. The CDA® Gold StandardSM offers CDA® students and employers the guidance they need when selecting both online and in-person training and professional development services.

About the Council

OUR MISSION

The Council for Professional Recognition promotes improved performance and recognition of professionals in the early childhood education of children ages birth to 5 years old.

OUR VISION

The Council works to ensure that all professional early childhood educators and caregivers meet the developmental, emotional and educational needs of our nation's (the world's) youngest children.

For almost 35 years, the Council has set policies and procedures for assessment and credentialing, published the CDA® Essentials and Competency Standards books, and other materials used for CDA® credentialing, and administered the CDA® assessment.

About the CDA®

In keeping with our mission and to meet the needs for qualified early childhood educators, the Council administers several Child Development Associate® (CDA) Credential[™] settings. The CDA® Credential is designed to assess both the training and competencies of early childhood education professionals and home visitors.

The Child Development Associate® (CDA) Credential™ is the most widely recognized credential in early childhood education (ECE) in the United States. It is a key first step on the pathway toward career advancement in ECE. The CDA® Credential is based on a core set of educational and competency standards early childhood educators must meet to earn a CDA®. The Council works to ensure that the nationally accepted CDA® is recognized as a vital part of the early childhood education profession.

CDAs know how to put the Competency Standards into practice and understand why these standards help them successfully move children from one developmental stage to another. Simply put, CDAs know how to nurture the emotional, physical, intellectual and social development of children. Earning the Child Development Associate® (CDA) Credential™ has many advantages, including exposure to the larger community of early childhood educators. More than 420,000 educators have earned their CDA® to date!

About the CDA® Gold StandardSM

Now, for the first time, the Council is extending its expertise to assure CDA® students and their employers that the training they receive meets the Council's rigorous industry-leading subject matter and competency criteria. The Council is pleased to have initiated an avenue to recognize organizations who develop and offer high-quality training programs that are consistent with the Council's requirements and ideals about supporting the professional preparation and development of early childhood educators pursuing the CDA® Credential. Programs that meet the Council's expectations for training and supporting these students receive recognition in the form of the CDA® Gold StandardSM. All eligible programs that provide training to CDA® students can use the guidance and application process for CDA® Gold Standard™ status as a means of self-reflection and program improvement to further support their students.

THE THREE PRINCIPLES

The CDA® Gold StandardSM focuses on an organization's ability to meet the Three Principles of high-quality CDA training programs:

Principle I: Business Policies and Practices - To demonstrate highquality services and meet the needs of CDA® students, CDA® Gold StandardSM organizations must be built upon sound business policies and practices. This means ensuring solid business practices, policies and an organizational commitment to best practices in preparing early childhood educators.

- Principle II: Quality Student Services Quality student services are directly related to an organization's ability to offer students the early childhood education and CDA® training and professional development experiences that support their learning.
- □ Principle III: Alignment with the CDA® Subject Areas Applicants must complete the CDA® Education Coursework Alignment (CECA), which demonstrates how CDA coursework aligns with required CDA Subject Areas. These areas comprise the core knowledge requirements early childhood professionals are expected to use daily in their work with young children.

The CDA® Gold Standard Specialist

A major component of the CDA® Gold StandardSM process for organizations involves the use of a Gold Standard Specialist (GSS). As an independent contractor performing as a GSS, you will be utilized to conduct the Site Visit Review (SVR) that is part of the Gold Standard process. You should expect to conduct Site Visit Reviews for a variety of organizations and that the Council will provide:

- Training to conduct all aspects of the Site Visit Reviews (SVR)
- Pertinent information about the organization that will assist in scheduling and conducting the SVR
- Support in the form of a Council staff person/team available to provide instructions and address questions or concerns
- Instructions for how to proceed following completion of the Site Visit Review

As a GSS, you are responsible for conducting the Site Visit Review (SVR), to confirm information the organization submitted in the online application and to capture any new information that demonstrates whether the Three Principles are being met. The GSS is an independent contractor who is responsible for four (4) distinct tasks in the CDA® Gold Standard™ process:

- 1. Receive Site Visit Review assignments from the Council
- 2. Confirm Site Visit Review logistics with the organization
- 3. Conduct the Site Visit Review to include the Instructor Interview(s), Course Observation(s) and Organizational Interview
- 4. Complete and submit the Site Visit Review Scoring Instrument to the Council

Eligible Gold Standard Specialist applicants receive a comprehensive training program that will include a detailed review of information in this manual and additional content as relevant and necessary. The training incorporates interactive learning, visual and oral presentation, resources, assessment, quality assurance and open opportunities for Q&A sessions.

Please note: Completing the training and passing the assessment is not the end of the approval process.

Your role as a GSS requires the following:

- Awareness of the Council, CDA Gold Standard and GSS practices and procedures as it relates to professional and ethical behavior outlined in your Independent Contractors Agreement and Professional Ethics and Standards guidelines
- □ Active participation and completion of all mandated training (current and future) related to the GSS role and review of all written CDA® Gold StandardSM materials
- Knowledge of professional techniques required to successfully conduct interviews, make observations and work with adults
- Consistent connection with Council communication mediums such as the Council website, the CounciLINK newsletter, Council webinars and group chats

This manual is designed to help you meet the requirements stated above. More in-depth information and essential guidelines can be found in each of the following sections.

Organization of the Manual

The GSS process (Training, Preparation, Conducting, Recording and Scoring, and Submission) is described in the five sections listed below. They are meant to provide detailed information about the GSS experience from pre- to post-Site Visit Review.

Part I: Training

CDA® GOLD STANDARD SPECIALIST (GSS) TRAINING

The Council offers either online or in-person GSS training:

- 1. Four (4) online, self-pace modules that offer instruction and assessment training.
- 2. Full day in-person group training, which also will provide an interactive and engaging environment that allows participants the opportunity to share ideas and strategies. In-person group training sessions will be offered periodically throughout the year and around the country by the Council. The list of training dates and locations can be located on the Council's website.

Eligible GSS applicants have the option to complete their training in either of the above formats within a timeframe set by the Council. In situations where the GSS fails the exam on the first attempt, the Council will provide 30 additional days for the GSS to retake the exam. If the GSS fails a second time, he or she must wait six (6) months to reapply.

The Council's comprehensive training program:

THE R.O.R. MODEL®

R.O.R. stands for Review, Observe and Reflect. The CDA® Gold StandardSM Site Visit Review utilizes the Council's R.O.R. Model®, which is an evidence-based approach that supports the manner in which GSS's engage with the organization during the Site Visit Review process. The R.O.R. Model® provides the framework for the GSS to look beyond the submitted documentation to consider how the training program functions to support the CDA® Credential and the students completing it.

Review: The GSS interviews a CDA® course instructor or content developer identified to highlight their teaching approach, share the rationale behind the CDA® course content taught to students and explain how it relates to the appropriate CDA® Subject Areas.

Observe: The GSS completes an observation of the organization's on-site, online or hybrid course to confirm that:

- The content of the course corresponds with the course description, objectives and setting types
- Construction of the class lends itself to the appropriate application of required learning principles
- Provisions have been made to provide an opportunity to engage and support students in the educational process:

Reflect: The GSS conducts a reflective dialogue with the organization's representative. During this dialogue, the organization can expound upon content cited in the online application. The organization also will be able to discuss and reflect on what the GSS observed during the Instructor Interview and Course

Observation. The purpose of the Reflective Dialogue is to facilitate a thoughtful and reflective conversation about organizational information shared in written materials, information gathered from the Instructor Interview and Course Observation you conducted.

This dialogue should last no longer than 10 to 15 minutes and must be conducted towards the end of the organizational interview. You will be provided questions that can be used to initiate this conversation. You also may include other questions if you think additional information is required to complete the Site Visit Review Scoring Instrument.

ANNUAL GSS TRAINING

GSS's are required to participate annually in a minimum of one (1) Council training session related to the CDA® Gold StandardSM process. The list of training dates and locations will be located on the Council's website at www.cdacouncil.org.

If you have not conducted a Site Visit Review (SVR), or have not been scheduled for a SVR within 12 months of your approval as a GSS, you will be required to complete a refresher training.

CDA® GOLD STANDARD SPECIALIST (GSS) INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR AGREEMENT

It is important to carefully review the GSS Independent Contractor agreement. It clearly defines your contractor relationship with the Council and contains quidelines.

In recognition of your service, the Council offers a GSS honorarium for each successfully completed Site Visit Review (SVR) and timely submission of the required SVR Scoring Instrument. Information about how to submit a request for your honorarium is in your GSS Independent Contractor Agreement.

Signing of the agreement and submittal of a W-9 IRS form are the final steps required as part of your approval process. SVR assignments are not available until both documents have been properly completed, signed, submitted and accepted by the Council. If, for any reason, you need to end your relationship as an Independent Contractor, you are required to inform the Council in writing at GSS@cdacouncil.org.

² Preparation

Part II: Preparing and Scheduling the Site Visit Review

The applicant organization is responsible for completing the scheduling section of the online application by providing three (3) available dates and times for the Site Visit Review (SVR). After entering availability, the Council selects a Gold Standard Specialist (GSS) to complete the SVR and also coordinates the availability of the interviews and observation of the selected training events.

ACCEPTING OR DECLINING A SITE VISIT REVIEW

The Council will reach out to you to complete the SVR after the applicant organization:

- Completes all of the required sections of the online application
- Provides dates of availability for the SVR

Please Note: As a GSS, you are limited to scheduling and conducting no more than one (1) SVR per day or three (3) visits per week.

When you receive notification of a potential SVR assignment, consider the following, first, before accepting or declining:

- Does the organization or an individual connected with it (i.e., organizational representative or instructor) pose a conflict of interest?
- Is there a scheduling conflict?

DETERMINING CONFLICTS OF INTERESTS

During scheduling, or at the start of the SVR, you could become aware of a potential conflict of interest, which might result in you being unable to conduct the SVR. Upon discovery, you are required to immediately notify the Council that such a conflict exists and you will receive instructions about how to proceed. Outlined below are the kinds of relationships that disqualify you from serving as a GSS for a specific organization:

You may NOT serve as an organization's GSS if you are:

- Related to the organization's instructor, content developer or representative involved in the SVR
- A representative of an organization that has financial/contractual considerations related to the organization or might benefit in any way from the organization's CDA® Gold StandardSM outcome
- A former employee of the organization

- Related to someone who is currently enrolled in the organization's CDA® course
- Conducting a GSS SVR for a different branch under the same organization
- Serving as a PD Specialist (PDS) for the application organization
- A former GSS of that organization and the organization is reapplying for the CDA® Gold StandardSM
- Biased personally or professionally (written or verbal) against the organization, or any group of which the organization is a part

If any of these apply, it will be considered a conflict of interest and you are not permitted to accept the assignment.

STARTING THE SITE VISIT REVIEW PROCESS

In preparation for the Site Visit Review (SVR), the Council will provide you with information concerning the applicant organization, including documents and forms necessary to successfully conduct and complete the visit.

- 1. The Council provides you with the following information about the organization:
 - » Dates of availability
 - » Site Visit Review location (if on-site)
 - » Login details (if online)
 - » Course-related information is included in the scheduling form (course name, setting type, etc.)
 - » Participant information for each component of the SVR
- 2. The Council also provides the documents and forms to complete the SVR, including:
 - » Pre-Visit Worksheet to reconfirm Site Visit Review logistics with the organization
 - » Scheduling form with the organization's availability information including details regarding the interviews and observation
 - » Access to the online SVR Scoring Instrument online scoring instrument to input SVR scores and notes
 - » Information to submit a payment voucher for your honorarium

Please note: All documents are required to be reviewed and completed as needed before initiating the SVR.

The SVR process begins after the Council confirms that the organization's submitted documents have met the criteria for Principles I, II and III. After confirmation the Council contacts:

- The applicant organization to obtain dates of availability
- Potential GSS to obtain dates of availability

Once the date is agreed upon, the Council will notify you and the organization via email of the scheduled date and times.

The organization is aware that the SVR will include three (3) major components (Instructor Interview(s), Course Observation(s), and Organizational Interview), which a GSS is assigned to conduct.

To begin the Site Visit Review, bring the following documentation:

- Organization's information including the completed Pre-Visit Checklist
- Appropriate tools
- Council's contact information (800-424-4310 or GSS@cdacouncil.org)

On Site to Conduct the SVR:

- Wear professional (but comfortable) clothing, bring spare writing instruments, limit the number of personal items you carry and use the restroom before you begin
- Prepare a brief introductory statement
- Arrive 30 minutes before the start of your first appointment
- Present yourself/alert staff on your arrival
- Acclimate yourself to your surroundings

Logging into an Online Course

- Ensure access to reliable and secure Internet connection (direct access or Wi-Fi)
- Locate a private room with minimal background noise
- Prepare with course login information
- Log in 15 minutes early

USING THE PRE-VISIT WORKSHEET

Prior to the CDA® Gold StandardSM Site Visit Review, you are required to use the Pre-Visit Worksheet (Appendix Three) when contacting the applicant organization to verify and record documentation.

As the selected Gold Standard Specialist (GSS) for the applicant organization's Site Visit Review, you must contact the organization at least two (2) business days prior to the scheduled SVR. You are to conduct the required call to the primary contact at the applicant organization to introduce yourself and confirm Site Visit Review logistics.

Use the Pre-Visit Worksheet to record the information discussed during the conversation and to guide you in the process of:

- Ensuring all Pre-Visit action items are completed during the initial call
- Preparing for the Site Visit Review
- Conducting the Site Visit Review

CONFIRMING SITE VISIT REVIEW LOGISTICS

Use the Pre-Visit Worksheet for Gold Standard Specialists (Appendix Three) to ensure all Pre-Visit action items are completed during the call and behind the scenes prior to the SVR.

Emphasize the following points during your required Pre-Visit call to avoid miscommunication between you and the applicant organization:

- Dates and times are double-checked to ensure everyone is operating on the same schedule
- Instructor and Organizational Interviews require at least 45 minutes each and are separately conducted
- A quiet, private room is required for the Instructor and Organizational Interviews
- Detailed location information (address, building, room number, on-site contact) for each component of the Site Visit Review (SVR) is important, especially when the applicant organization operates in multiple training locations
- Establish procedures and the schedule for the day of your arrival or login time. if online

IF THE GOLD STANDARD SPECIALIST (GSS) NEEDS TO CANCEL A SITE VISIT REVIEW

The Council has an obligation to ensure the Site Visit Review takes place on the scheduled date. It is imperative that the Council is notified far in advance if the GSS has to cancel

Cancelation for a non-emergency: The Council requires at least two weeks' advance notice to locate a replacement GSS.

Please note: We recognize emergencies might occur. However, in those instances, the Council should be immediately contacted at (202) 265-9090 or email at goldstandard@cdcouncil.org. The Council will follow up with the organization to determine additional SVR scheduling availability and to assign a new GSS if necessary.

IF THE ORGANIZATION NEEDS TO POSTPONE THE SITE VISIT REVIEW

A GSS might be the first to hear from an organization that they need to postpone the SVR. If this should occur, the GSS should:

- Cancel each component of the scheduled visit
- □ Notify the Council via e-mail at GoldStandard@cdacouncil.org about the cancellation and provide a brief description of the circumstances
- □ The Council will forward the organization the SVR Postponement Form via email for completion
- Instruct the organization to officially request a postponement by submitting the form to the Council and to await further instructions from the Council regarding next steps

Site Visit 3 Review

Part III: Conducting a Successful SVR

SITE VISIT REVIEW (SVR)

A Site Visit Review is scheduled by the Council after confirmation that an organization's submitted documents have met the criteria for Principles I, II and III, and the organization has been approved to proceed to this step.

Your role in this process is critical! The SVR is the final step in the CDA® Gold StandardSM process and is the last opportunity in the process for an organization to demonstrate and affirm the high-quality requirements and indicators provided during the application process.

Well-designed Site Visit Reviews allow the representatives ample opportunity to provide comments or evidence that the organization meets the required criteria, as well as potential best practices that can be documented and shared with other organizations. During SVRs, participants can be asked to delve deeply into submitted materials through analysis, reflection and responses to follow-up questions. Through this process, organizations can provide depth of intentionality to the materials. This allows the Site Visit Reviews to serve as a systematic means for the oversight body to build knowledge of best practices that can be shared with others.

The total time for the CDA® Gold StandardSM Site Visit Review is estimated at 3-5 hours, depending on setting type and training modality. This includes three major components: the Instructor Interview(s), Course Observation(s) and the Organizational Interview.

When conducting the Site Visit Review, you should use the R.O.R. Model® (refer to page 13 in this manual) as your guide in directing the manner of the visit.

Instructor Interview - The Instructor Interview is a 45-minute meeting during which you and one CDA® instructor discuss the instructor's perspective of the organization's CDA® training program and how the organization addresses his or her professional needs.

It is expected that you will apply the Review process from the R.O.R. Model® to this component: The interview with the CDA® course instructor or content developer is designed to provide them an opportunity to highlight their teaching approaches, share the rationale behind the CDA® course content taught to students and explain how it relates to the appropriate CDA® Subject Areas.

 Course Observation - The Course Observation is a 60-minute assessment (for each observation) during which you observe and assess the CDA® learning environment, CDA® teaching practices and professionaldevelopment activities to determine if the course aligns with the CDA® Subject Areas and best practices in adult-learning principles.

It is expected that you will apply the Observe process from the R.O.R. Model® to this component: Your observation of the organization's on-site, online or hybrid course should assist you in determining if:

- » The content of the course corresponds with the course description, objectives and setting types
- » Construction of the class lends itself to the appropriate application of required learning principles
- » Provisions have been made to provide an opportunity to engage and support students in the educational process
- Organizational Interview The Organizational Interview is a 45-minute meeting between you and an organization's representative to discuss the organization's mission, history and context of the CDA® training program as represented in the application. The Organizational Interview also reflects upon what you experienced during the Instructor Interview and Course Observation.

It is expected that you will apply the Reflect process from the R.O.R. Model® to this component in which you will engage in a reflective dialogue with the organization's representative. During this dialogue the organization can expound upon aspects of the online course cited in the online application, discuss, and reflect upon what the GSS observed during the Instructor Interview and Course Observation.

CONDUCTING THE OBSERVATION

The purpose of the applicant organization observation, within the context of the R.O.R. Model®, is to record evidence of the organization's consistent training. Organization observations are critical for the Council because they help paint an accurate picture of the organization's strengths and any areas for improvement. Understand that being observed in the classroom might be unsettling for even the most experienced organization. As the GSS, you should make every effort to support the organization and reduce stress.

- Observation should be conducted during the organization's regular operating hours
- Ensure the course is the one for observation and matches description of the CECA
- Remember, you are there to observe and not participate (include this statement as part of your introduction)

- Ensure you have all of the appropriate note-taking tools available to conduct the observation, including the Site Visit Review Scoring Instrument
- If on-site, find a comfortable spot in the room to begin your observation, out of the way of activities, from which you can easily see and hear the organization in action
- As an observer, you are encouraged to remain silent and to be "invisible."
 Refrain from interacting with the students
- Your two (2) hour focus on the organization should never be interrupted.
 Do not use your cell phone during this time (best practice is to put your cell phone on do not disturb)

During the Observation, focus on the following:

- Instructor's knowledge and understanding of the coursework as it applies to CDA Subject Area and setting type (indicated on the CDA® Education Coursework Alignment (CECA)
- Instructor's application of adult-learning principles
- Instructor/student interactions
- Accommodations for students from varied and diverse backgrounds, and learning styles (if applicable)

THE SITE VISIT REVIEW APPROACH

The structure of the Site Visit Review includes three (3) major components: Instructor Interview(s), Course Observation(s) and the Organizational Interview.

The SVR may be conducted virtually (online), depending on the organization's method of instructional delivery. Interviews can be conducted in person or by phone or video chat (e.g., Skype). The Course Observation may be conducted as an in-person observation of a live CDA® course; as a virtual observation of a live or synchronous training (e.g. conference call or live online chat room); or a survey of an asynchronous learning environment in which CDA® students can access training content on their own schedule (e.g., online, on-demand courses). For additional information regarding synchronous and asynchronous learning environments, refer to the Glossary.

You should expect to spend between 3-5 hours conducting the Site Visit Review. All components of the SVR must be conducted on the same day. Please plan accordingly.

Instructor Interview(s)

The Instructor Interview is a 45-minute meeting during which the GSS and one CDA® instructor discuss the instructor's perspective of the organization's CDA® training program and how the organization addresses his or her professional needs.

The Instructor Interview gives the student the opportunity to learn about the CDA training program from the instructor's perspective and better understand how their professional needs are met. Since the CDA Instructor works directly with CDA students, their perspective can illustrate whether policy is appropriately translated into high-quality practice.

The Instructor Interview is a one-on-one conversation with the CDA instructor, who is primarily responsible for the instructional design and delivery of the CDA course. If more than one Instructor Interview is required, a different CDA instructor can be selected to represent a separate course in a separate interview. The interview lasts 45 minutes and must be conducted in a guiet, private room.

Use the following Site Visit Review Objectives as a guide to help you focus the Instructor Interview on information that relates to criteria within The Three Principles. The Site Visit Review Objectives are focused on what you, the Gold Standard Specialist, need to learn from the conversation. Meeting these objectives are imperative to your success in completing the Site Visit Review Summary Report.

When conducting the Site Visit Review, use the following objectives to guide the discussion between you and the Instructor/content developer.

- Obtain information about the instructor's understanding of CDA requirements and the assessment process
- Understand how the CDA coursework supports candidates in obtaining the knowledge of the Subject Areas required to earn the CDA credential
- Understand how the CDA instructor(s) supports candidates in obtaining the knowledge of the Subject Areas in relationship to practice to earn the CDA credential
- Learn how the instructor meets the diverse needs and learning styles of the student population
- Obtain information about the instructor's understanding of the impact of the CDA in the ECE community

Course Observation

The Course Observation is a 60-minute assessment (for each observation) during which the GSS observes and assesses the CDA® learning environment, CDA® teaching practices and professional development activities to determine if the course aligns with the CDA® Subject Areas and best practices in adultlearning principles.

The Course Observation gives you an opportunity to experience a CDA course from the student's perspective. It also allows you to verify that the applicant organization's coursework is appropriately aligned to the CDA subject areas.

The Course Observation can be conducted virtually or on-site. The method you use to collect information during the Course Observation must accommodate the method of instructional delivery. However, because the expected outcomes of a CDA course do not change based on the method of course delivery, virtual courses are held to the same standards as on-site courses. Just as an on-site course that only utilizes lecture does not facilitate active learning, neither does a virtual course that fails to provide students with opportunities to interact with their peers and the instructor.

The following objectives will be used to guide the Course Observation component of the Site Visit Review:

- The content of the course aligns with the Subject Area(s) being taught as stated on the Course Observation Cover Sheet
- The instruction applies to the setting(s) indicated on the Course
 Observation Cover Sheet
- The instructor adequately covers the CDA class objective(s) as stated on the Course Observation Cover Sheet
- The instructor demonstrates knowledge and understanding of the CDA Subject Areas covered
- The instructor demonstrates best practices in and familiarity with adultlearning principles

Each Course Observation covers the review of on-site, online and hybrid courses. The observation(s) will be based on the Setting Type of the Course Observation. See the breakdown of each course type below:

Setting Types and the CDA® Course Observation:

- » Virtual Course Observations (Only)
 - · Virtual courses offering one (1) setting, one (1) observation is required
 - Virtual courses offering two (2) or more settings must complete two
 (2) observations one (1) for each setting

Please note: If Home Visitor training is offered, one of the two (2) observations must be completed in the Home Visitor setting.

- » On-site Course Observations (Only)
 - · On-site courses offering one (1) setting, one (1) observation is required
 - On-Site courses offering two or more settings must complete two observations (for two settings). (Note: If Home Visitor training is offered, one of the two observations must be completed in the Home Visitor setting.)

- » Hybrid Course Observations (Virtual and On-Site)
 - · Organizations offering hybrid courses are required to complete two (2) observations one (1) virtual and one (1) on-site.
 - · Hybrid courses offering two (2) or more settings must complete two (2) observations for two (2) settings.

Note: If Home Visitor is offered, one (1) of the two (2) observations must be completed in the Home Visitor setting.

Organizational Interview

The Organizational Interview is a 45-minute meeting between the GSS and an organization representative to discuss the organization's mission, history and context of the CDA® training program as represented in the application.

The Organizational Interview gives you the opportunity to learn about the overarching leadership and management of the applicant organization. You will lead a discussion with the organization's representatives to discuss topics that impact quality, including the organization's mission and vision, history and the context in which it operates.

The Organizational Interview also provides an opportunity for the organization to reflect on what the GSS experienced in the Instructor Interview and Course Observation. At the end of the Organizational Interview, you should engage in a reflective dialogue (using suggested reflective questions provided by the Council). Reflective questions are designed to help the organization reflect on the impact of its practices and course offerings and potentially identify quality-improvement goals. Be sure to emphasize to the organization that these questions do not impact its ability to earn the CDA® Gold Standard™ but are part of the R.O.R. Model® that is designed to support continuous quality improvement.

The applicant organization can identify one or more organization representatives to participate in the Organizational Interview. The interview must be conducted in a quiet, private room.

Use the following Site Visit Review Objectives as a guide to help you focus the Organizational Interview on information that relates to criteria within the Three Principles. The Site Visit Review Objectives are focused on what you, the Gold Standard Specialist, need to learn from the conversation. Meeting these objectives are imperative to your success in completing the Site Visit Review Summary Report after the review.

Objectives for the Organizational Interview are as follows:

Obtain information about the organization's understanding of CDA® requirements and the assessment process

- Document information on how the organization supports candidates in obtaining the knowledge of the Subject Areas required to earn the CDA Credential
- Document information on how the organization supports candidates in obtaining the knowledge of the Subject Areas in relationship to practice to earn the CDA Credential
- Collect information on how the organization meets the diverse needs and learning styles of the student population
- Obtain information about the organization's understanding of the impact of the CDA in the ECE community

Part IV: Recording and Scoring of the Site Visit Review

As a GSS, you must remain objective throughout the entire process and not develop or bring preconceived impressions of instructors or look for evidence confirming those impressions. Over the course of a Site Visit Review, you must guard against injecting external explanations for what you see taking place within the course. While observing and collecting documentation, remember that words, phrases and sentences can be communicated and understood in a variety of ways. Your direct observation of an instructor is the primary method used to inform your ratings.

RECORDING EVIDENCE

Notes:

- You must maintain confidential information concerning an organization and ensure it is shared only with appropriate Council staff
- Your notes in the Site Visit Scoring Instrument are critical in the scoring process and will be considered in the approval process
- Supporting evidence must be included in the interview notes section of each category
- Include very specific notes to document and justify scores, explain rationale or provide examples that led you to choose that score

Scores:

When scoring both the Instructor and Organizational Interview, you are required to provide a 1, 2 or 3:

- "3:" The answer included basic detail and additional relevant information

The scoring structure of the Course Observation requires a 3 or 1.

- "3:" Yes, the item was met or observed
- "1:" No. the item was not met or observed

Examples of each are found in the GSS Training module, "Recording and Scoring the Site Visit Review."

Part V: Submission

Principles: The Council's standards for the Gold Standard are based upon three primary principles and related activities that every organization must meet. Each of the two CDA Gold Standard™ types (Comprehensive and Select) are built upon the three principles.

Principle I: Business Policies and Practices

Principle II: Quality Student Services

Principle III: CDA® Alignment

R.O.R. (Review, Observe, and Reflect): R.O.R. stands for Review, Observe and Reflect. The CDA Gold StandardSM Site Visit Review utilizes the Council's R.O.R. Model®, which is an evidence-based approach that supports the manner in which GSS's engage with the organization during the Site Visit Review process. The R.O.R. Model® provides the framework for the GSS to look beyond the submitted documentation to consider how the training program functions to support the CDA® credential and the students completing it.

Synchronous: Online classes that occur on set schedules and time frames. Students and instructors are online at the same time in synchronous classes since lectures, discussions and presentations take place at specific hours. All students must be online at that exact time in order to participate in the class. Questions about the CDA® Gold Standard Specialist?
